KIND WORDS FROM A STRANGER.

Letter From a Lady at Ardmore, Indian Territory, Who Has Seen The Herald.

To have our faults laid bare and made subject to public gaze is humiliating, but by the request of many friends when I left my old Kentucky home, after a delay of fifteen months, I now attempt the task, not with feelings of delight, nor yet with feelings of absolute wisdom. What a blessing could we all be wise as serpents and harmless as doves! I don't expect to weary you. As THE HERALD has found its way to my sanctum, thought I would write a short article and perhaps it would give me another call. It was a welcome visitor, and felt like I had met a friend from the old State. Doubtless the folks back there would love to bear something about the wilds of the West. Can't give you a full history this time as I am in a poor mood for writing; my head appears all blank this morning, but trust you may catch something through the medium of the pen of the writer that will interest you. I live in Pickens county, two and a half miles from the railroad and ten miles from the postoffice. That's the fruits of a frontier life, but I am enjoying that life much better than I anticipated I would for one who has seen the frosts of seventy winters. This is a good country. We are surrounded by the blessings and benefits of this life. Think if I was a farmer I would enjoy farming here in this fine country. It is not so irksome a task to farm here as you Kentuckians have. No stumps to dig, no briars to cut. Here the broad prairies spread out as far as the human eye can reach; and to see the big herds of cattle feeding for miles away, it looks like some far-off city. The farmers here use all improved implements-riding plows, harrows, drills and Sinders. Cotton is the principal here, and yields abundantly on this soil. The average yield is 1,600 is to the acre. As pretty a sight have seen in the Nation was 600

Second dam the Cluke pacing mare.

NOTE.—Abdallah West, 2583, by Allie West, 1st dam Miss Coons, dam of Wilson, 2:1614, by Clark Chief, 2d dam Ohio, by American Clay; 3d dam brought from Ohio and represented to be by Brown's Bellfounder; Abdallah West died at six years old. He was the most promising colt ever bred.

West Cloud is a rich mahogany bay, 15 hands 2 inches, with black mane and tail and black legs extending above knees and hocks. He is a powerfully built borse for old Hamlet Stakes in 1875), by Hamlet his height, and has the most functional feet and legs its possible to get on a horse (sire of Loretta F 2:1834; A. V. Pantlind of any breed. As a two-year-old he gave evidence of being possessed of remarkable speed, as with little handling he trotted a half mile in 1:18 1-5, and miles in his work in 2:4914. At three years old he was not trained, owing to a very severe attack of pink-e e. He also done no work on the track as a four-year-old. As a five-year-old he was jogged and trained lightly, more for the purpose of ascertaining if he was entirely recovered than with a view of testing his speed. In a few months he trotted a full mile in 2:38 and half in 1:15. This season (1890) he served a few mares of my own and was not put to work until September, and his improvement was most remarkable. He epeatedly trotted halves in 1:10, and I am fully convinced he will with a season's training trot in 2.20.
